

Online Resources - Middle East and Islamic Studies

Dear Reader,

The Middle East and Islamic Studies Online brochure from Brill presents our wide range of online products in this field.

We are dedicated to continuously updating, improving and expanding our online resources and Brill Islam Online is now one of the largest collections of online resources in the world of Islamic studies.

Recently, we have added the Encyclopaedia of Islam First Edition (1913-1936) Online and the French-language version Encyclopaedia of Islam Second Edition: Encyclopédie de l'Islam En Ligne. Our encyclopedias are enhanced with indexes, maps and new articles in two to four updates a year. We also strive to improve the quality of the current content by adding links and enhancing functionality.

We are open to suggestions for improvement, please contact us at marketing@brill.nl.

On page 18, you will find a detailed description of another new project: the digitization of Islamic manuscripts from the Leiden University library.

All our printed books are available as e-books as well, either separately or in collections.

To keep up with developments in Middle East and Islamic Studies throughout the year, and to receive special discount opportunities and free trial offers, be sure to subscribe to Brill's e-bulletin in Middle East and Islamic Studies. Brill also offers the Brill Online e-bulletin with updates on our online products in all fields. You will find details on how to subscribe at our website by clicking on brill.nl/e-bulletins.

To search across our full list of available titles, please visit brill.nl.

If you have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact us at marketing@brill.nl.

Sincerely,

NEW platforms for Brill's Online Resources

Brill Online Books and Journals, launched Fall 2011, is followed in early 2012 by the launch of the new and updated platforms for our reference works; Brill Online Reference Works and the bibliographies Brill Online Bibliographies.

The majority of Brill's Online Resources will be available on three brand new platforms:

booksandjournals.brillonline.com (Brill's Online Books and Journals)

referenceworks.brillonline.com (Brill's Online Reference Works)

bibliographies.brillonline.com (Brill's Online Bibliographies)

The Brill Online Resources Platforms meet the needs of today's scholars

The new platforms have been created with the researchers' needs and the technological developments in mind. All three platforms offer optimal performance, discoverability and access options, library account management, personalization tools, social bookmarking, alerting services and much more.

The new platforms offer personalization tools, social bookmarking, personal alerts by title, subject, full access to article and chapter abstracts, and much more. The personal tools will fit in well with the scholar's way of working.

Brill Online Books and Journals

Brill Online Books and Journals - booksandjournals.brillonline.com will offer online access to Brill's quality book and journal publications. For the first time you can search across all the Brill books and journals on one platform. Brill Online Books and Journals hosts about 100,000 journal articles and 2,500 e-book titles. New content will be added daily – and will total to about 3,500 new journal articles and approx. 500 new book titles annually. Brill Online Books and Journals offers the possibility to purchase individual articles, chapters and books.

Brill Online Reference works

The number of online reference works offered by Brill is growing rapidly. The new platform for Brill's online reference works allow for cross-searching, bookmarking, saving and meets the latest technological standards. It will be easier and faster to find the information you are looking for. referenceworks.brillonline.com hosts over 30 reference works, including the Encyclopaedia of Islam Online, New Pauly Online, the Encyclopedia of Jews in the Islamic World Online, Religion Past and Present Online.

Brill Online Bibliographies

Bibliographies assist scholars in finding the right resources quickly. With products like Index Islamicus Brill offers heavily-used and valuable research tools. bibliographies.brillonline.com offers improved and easy access to these important bibliographies.

Brockelmann Online consists of both original volumes Geschichte der arabischen Litteratur (GAL) by Carl Brockelmann (1868-1956), as well as the three supplement volumes. Brockelmann's Geschichte der arabischen Litteratur offers bio-bibliographic information about works written in Arabic and their authors, with an emphasis on the classical period.

This originally multivolume reference work is divided in chronologically organized sections, which are subdivided by literary genre. Individual entries typically consist of a biographical section and a list of the author's works in manuscript and print, with references to secondary literature. The full-text search makes the online version of Brockelmann much easier to use and consult this unique and valuable resource.

The "Brockelmann" is an indispensable research tool for anyone working on the Islamic world in general and the Middle East in particular.

Features and Benefits

Christian-Muslim Relations, a Bibliographical History Online is a general online history of relations between the faiths. It covers the period from 600 to 1500, when encounters took place through the extended Mediterranean basin and are recorded in Syriac, Arabic, Greek, Latin and other languages. It comprises introductory essays on the treatment of Christians in the Qur'an, Qur'an commentaries, biographies of the Prophet, Hadith and Sunni law, and of Muslims in canon law, and the main body of more than two hundred detailed entries on all the works recorded, whether surviving or lost.

The result of collaboration between leading scholars, CMR Online is intended as a basic tool for research in Christian-Muslim relations.

With its launch in 2010, CMR Online covers the first period 600-900. In the Autumn of 2010, the period 900-1200 will be added. The final period, 1200-1500, will be available mid 2011.

Christian Muslim Relations, a Bibliographical History is also available in print.

Features and Benefits

Encyclopaedia Islamica is a projected 16-volume publication, consisting of an abridged and edited translation of the Persian Dā'irat al-Ma'ārif-i Buzurg-i Islāmī, one of the most comprehensive sources on Islam and the Muslim world. One unique feature of this work of reference lies in the attention it gives to Shi'ī Islam and its rich and diverse heritage, which makes it complementary to other encyclopedias. In addition to providing entries on important themes, subjects and personages in Islam generally, it offers the Western reader an opportunity to appreciate the various dimensions of Shi'ī Islam, the Persian contribution to Islamic civilization, and the spiritual dimensions of the Islamic tradition.

Encyclopaedia Islamica Online is automatically updated whenever a new volume has been published. New content will be added every year in alphabetical order. Per January 2012, the first three volumes will be available online. The project started with the letter A in 2008 and is expected to be completed in 2023.

Encyclopaedia Islamica Online is also available in print.

Features and Benefits

- Abridged and edited translation of the Persian Dā'irat al-Ma'ārif-i Buzurg-i Islāmī
- Special and in-depth attention to Shi'ī Islam
- Written by Iranian scholars and translated by the well established Ismaili Institute
- Yearly updates with alphabetized entries, equivalent of approximately 300,000 words per year
- Complementary to other encyclopedias- Records included in the database cover almost 100 years of publications on the world of Islam
- Open Url (Uniform Resource Locator) which enables users to easily find a copy of a resource that they would be allowed to access

Encyclopaedia of Islam<sup>THREE</sup>

Edited by Gudrun Krämer, Denis Matringe, John Nawas, Everett Rowson and Kate Fleet

The Third Edition of Brill’s Encyclopaedia of Islam is an entirely new work, with new articles reflecting the great diversity of current scholarship. It appears in four substantial segments each year, both online and in print. The new scope includes comprehensive coverage of Islam in the twentieth century and of Muslim minorities all over the world.

Encyclopaedia of Islam Second Edition

Edited by P. Bearman, Th. Bianquis, C.E. Bosworth, E. van Donzel and W.P. Heinrichs

The Encyclopaedia of Islam (Second Edition) sets out the present state of our knowledge of the Islamic World. It is a unique and invaluable reference tool, an essential key to understanding the world of Islam, and the authoritative source not only for the religion, but also for the believers and the countries in which they live.

“The Encyclopaedia of Islam Online is invaluable for researchers at all levels with an interest in Islam, Muslim society, or the history and culture of the Middle East. Scholars value the in-depth articles, complete bibliographies, and easy-to-use interface. I refer library users to it often.” - Daniel C. Mack, Tombros Librarian for Classics and Ancient Mediterranean Studies, Head, George and Sherry Middlemas Arts and Humanities Library Humanities Librarian for Ancient History, Jewish Studies, and Religious Studies The Pennsylvania State University Libraries.

“The Encyclopaedia of Islam has always been the place to begin research on any topic in the field of medieval Islamic studies. Sometimes, if you just need a quick overview or are trying to identify a person or place, it’s all you need. Having the EI online, easily searchable and at your fingertips wherever you are, is an incredibly useful resource.” - Marlis J. Saleh, Bibliographer for Middle East Studies, University of Chicago Library.

The Encyclopaedia of Islam First Edition (EI1) was originally published between 1913 and 1936. The demand for an encyclopaedic work on Islam was created by the increasing (colonial) interest in Muslims and Islamic cultures during the nineteenth century. The scope of this still unique reference work is philology, history, theology and law until early 20th century. Such famous scholars as Houtsma, Wensinck, Gibb, Snouck Hurgronje, and Lévi-Provençal were involved in this scholarly endeavor.

The English version of EI1 is now also available online.

Features and Benefits

- 9000 Alphabetically arranged articles
- Full-text searchable
- Ability to search together with EI2 and EI3 on Brill Online platform
- The first highly international collaboration of scholars in this field
- The start of a renowned academic tradition
- Historically important as a reflection of the scholarly discourses of its time

Finally available online, the French version of the New (2nd) Edition of The Encyclopaedia of Islam, generally acclaimed as one of the major scholarly enterprises of the twentieth century. Its more than ten thousand pages are a mine of valuable information for any student and researcher of the Islamic world. All entries in The Encyclopaedia of Islam French Online (EIFO) are linked to their English counterparts, so users can easily switch from one language to the other. EIFO, like the English edition online, is full-text searchable, with and without diacritics. The 'simple search' yields results from all text elements, while the 'advanced search' allows users to target only the bibliographies, the title fields, or just the entries.

L'Encyclopédie de l'Islam, ouvrage collectif de grande envergure, comprend des notices sur des Musulmans qui se sont distingués de façon quelconque en toute époque et terre, sur les tribus et les dynasties, sur l'activité artisanale et les sciences, sur les institutions politiques et religieuses, sur la géographie, l'ethnologie, la flore et la faune des divers pays, et sur l'histoire, la topographie et les monuments des principales villes et cités. On y trouve également des articles sur la terminologie religieuse, philosophique et scientifique – à vrai dire, sur chaque aspect de la culture musulmane depuis le temps du Prophète à nos jours. Touchant la géographie et l'histoire, L'Encyclopédie de l'Islam s'occupe de l'ancien Empire arabo-islamique, des états musulmans d'Iran, d'Asie Centrale, des Indes et d'Indonésie, de l'Empire ottoman et des divers états et communautés musulmans partout dans le monde. C'est un instrument de travail sans égal, indispensable aux Islamologues, aux étudiants dans les domaines de l'histoire et de la culture des peuples musulmans, et aux géographes et sociologues.

Features and Benefits

- Over 10,000 entries from hundreds of scholars
- Easy referencing at end of each article
- Includes all material from EI2 (1955-2007)
- Will include all maps from An Historical Atlas of Islam by Hugh Kennedy

The Encyclopedia of Arabic Language and Linguistics Online comprehensively covers all aspects of Arabic languages and linguistics. It is interdisciplinary in scope and represents different schools and approaches in order to be as objective and versatile as possible. Notable improvements in the online edition include the conversion of Arabic script to Unicode characters, corrections to the print-version texts, and new color maps and illustrations. The online edition is cross-searchable and cross-referenced, and will be equipped with a browsable index in the near future. The EALL Online will be updated with new articles twice a year.

The Encyclopedia of Arabic Language and Linguistics is also available in print.

“The EALL lives up to its claim to offering a framework within which data on all varieties of Arabic and different types of analyses can be drawn together from different parts of globe in order to improve the propagation of knowledge regarding one of the world’s key languages... Incorporated in the EALL are sketches of more than 40 dialects described according to a predetermined format, which allows the user to make quick cross-dialectal comparison.” - Review on the Linguist List, 20 July 2010.

“Rarely have I been so profoundly impressed by a work of collective scholarship, virtually beyond criticism in every respect. Contributions and editing alike are of exceptional quality, and its value embraces lay readers (who will find it readable, often amusing), serious students (who will make progress), and denizens of ivory towers (who will wish they had written part or whole). A brilliant contribution to knowledge, destined to be a benchmark for future research and popularisation. Recommended without reservation to all academic libraries. To quote the greetings article in Arabic: ‘ahlan!, ‘ahlan!’” - H.G.A. Hughes, Reference Reviews 21/6 (2007).

Features and Benefits

- A high-quality linguistic reference work
- An unique and widely respected authoritative source in its field
- Covers all relevant fields in Arabic linguistics, both general and language specific
- Includes topics from interdisciplinary fields, such as anthropology, psychology, sociology, philosophy, and computer science
- Over 500 entries
- Over 300 contributors
- Over 2,1 million words
- Full-text searchable
- Advance search and browsable index
- Fully Unicode compliant, to facilitate the display of foreign languages
- Ability to cross-search with other Brill Online products to which your institution subscribes

The Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures (EWIC) is an interdisciplinary, trans-historical, and global project embracing women and Islamic cultures in every region where there have been significant Muslim populations. It aims to cover every topic for which there is significant research, examining these regions from the period just before the rise of Islam to the present. A unique collaboration of over 900 scholars from around the world, the Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures crosses history, geographic borders and disciplines to create a groundbreaking reference work reflecting the very latest research on gender studies and the Islamic world. No other reference work offers this scale of contributions or depth and breadth of coverage.

The Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures covers all volumes plus the Supplement and Index Volume of the print edition, covering the following subjects:

- Methodologies, Paradigms and Sources (volume 1)
- Family, Law and Politics (volume 2)
- Family, Body, Sexuality and Health (volume 3)
- Economics, Education, Mobility and Space (volume 4)
- Practices, Interpretations and Representations (volume 5)

Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures Online is an essential reference work for students and researchers in the fields of gender studies, Middle Eastern and Islamic studies, as well as scholars of religion, history, politics, anthropology, geography and related disciplines.

Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures Online is also available in print.

Index Islamicus is THE international classified bibliography of publications in European languages on all aspects of Islam and the Muslim world. Rightly described as 'an indispensable tool for libraries, graduates and undergraduates alike, it provides the reader with an effective overview of what has been published on a given subject in the field of Islamic Studies in its broadest sense. It is produced by an editorial team working at the School of Oriental and African Studies in London, established to transmit knowledge about Islamic and Middle East studies, which have traditionally been part of the curriculum of SOAS. Records included in the database cover almost 100 years of publications on the world of Islam. Material cited in the Index Islamicus includes not only work written about the Middle East, but also about the other main Muslim areas of Asia and Africa, plus Muslim minorities elsewhere. Over 3,000 journals are monitored for inclusion in the database, together with conference proceedings, monographs, multi-authored works and book reviews. Journals and books are indexed down to the article and chapter level.

The well-known Index Islamicus classification scheme, uniquely and carefully geared to the field of Islamic Studies, allows one to quickly find all literature headed under a particular, broader subject area (e.g., Education, Philosophy, Shi'ism, Sudan, Palestine, Israel, as well as their subcategories).

Product enhancements planned for Index Islamicus in 2012 include improved online search functionalities because of the recently extended classification scheme and the significantly improved descriptors (keywords).

Features and Benefits

- Access to over 400,000 records
- Covers over 3,000 periodicals
- Search keys down to article/author level
- Journals and books are indexed down to the article and chapter level
- Extensive cross-over sections
- Updated quarterly

The Lithographed Editions of Firdawsī's Shāhnāmah is a collection of extremely rare and illustrated lithographed editions of the famous Persian epic The Book of Kings by Firdawsī. The Shāhnāmah was completed at the beginning of the eleventh century C.E. and it is both a monument of classical Persian literature and of Iranian national identity. The present collection offers the complete text of thirteen lithographed editions of the Shāhnāmah. It includes the Indian Bombay editions of 1262/1846 and 1266/1849, as well as the first Iranian edition from Tehran 1265-67/1851-53 and all four of the ensuing editions published in Iran and also a selection of eight Indian editions published in the latter half of the nineteenth century. Beyond their importance as historically produced texts, some editions are noteworthy for their calligraphy, such as the 1277/1855 Bombay edition prepared by Awliyā' Samī, or the 1307/1889 Tehran edition prepared by Muhammad-Ridā Safā "Sultān al-kuttāb". Particularly the illustrations in the Iranian editions are quite appealing and have been produced by major artists of the day such as Mirzā 'Alī-Qolī Khu'ī (Tehran 1265-67/1851-53), Ustād Sattār (Tabriz 1275/1858), and Mustafā (Tehran 1307/1889).

Location of originals: private collection of Ulrich Marzolph, Göttingen, Germany

Features and Benefits

- Includes the complete text of thirteen lithographed editions of the Shāhnāmah
- Richly illustrated lithographic printing
- Publications from Bombay, Lucknow, Tabriz and Tehran, published between 1846-1904
- Over 5,700 high resolution scans
- Downloadable files
- Metadata in English and Persian (transliteration) per edition

Early Western Korans* Online

Muslims in Russia Online

Advisor: S. Ishakov

- Available since 2005
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19277 5
- Number of titles: 11
- Languages used: Russian
- Title list available
- MARC records are available
- Purchase option: Outright purchase

This collection introduces the uniquely varied and poorly explored Russian Muslim population during one of the most dynamic periods of their history (1861-1918). Materials published in Russia both at the center and on the periphery reflect the picturesque palette of life of Muslims in the Russian Empire, as well as the positions of their public and political figures. This collection presents works written by and about Muslims. The value of this heritage is especially pertinent now that the historical and spiritual past of Muslims in Russia is being actively reconsidered.

Western Travellers in the Islamic World Online

Advisor: Maurits van den Boogert

- Available since 2006
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19278 2
- Number of titles: 119
- Languages used: English, German, French, Italian, Latin
- MARC records are available

Accounts of travel are a popular and accessible source for research on historical relations between “East” and “West” and are attractive for specialists and non-specialists alike. In the premodern period a large number of such accounts were published all over Europe. Predominantly covering the Ottoman Empire, the collection also stretches into Ethiopia, Central Asia, Afghanistan, North Africa, and of course Iran.

Part 1

The first part of the collection consists of travels undertaken until the year 1800. Well known works included are those by Ogier Ghislain de Busbecq (1520/1-1592); Pietro della Valle (1586-1652); J.B. Tavernier (1605-1689); Jean de Thevenot (1633-1667); John Chardin (1643-1713); Cornelis de Bruyn (le Brun; 1652-1726); J.P. de Tournefort (1656-1708); Richard Pococke (1704-1765); James Bruce (1730-1794); and Carsten Niebuhr (1733-1815).

Russian-Ottoman Relations Online

Advisor: Maurits van den Boogert

Brill in cooperation with the National Library of Russia in St. Petersburg, for the first time brings together a unique collection of rare primary sources on a vital and dynamic part of the history of Turkey, Russia, the Middle East and Western Europe Russian-Ottoman Relations. During the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries, the balance of power between Russia and the Ottoman Empire was constantly monitored in Western Europe, where several powers had designs of their own on some of the Ottoman territories. In Germany and France, in particular, all kinds of accounts, opinions, and plans were published that were influenced by, or aimed to influence, Russian-Ottoman relations. They include publications of relevant government documents, diplomatic reports, travel accounts that provided new details about hitherto relatively unknown regions, and fiercely political (and polemical) tracts and pamphlets designed to rally public support for one power or the other. Published across Europe over a period of two centuries, these sources provide detailed insights not only in the military ebb and flow of Russian-Ottoman relations, but also in their effects on European public opinion. This series currently consists of 4 parts:

Part 1: The Origins 1600-1800

- Available since 2006
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19279 9
- Number of titles: 193
- Languages used: Western languages, German, French, English
- Title list available
- MARC records available
- Purchase option: Outright purchase

Relations between the Ottoman Empire and Russia were no less conflictual in the eighteenth century: They were at war in 1736-39, 1768-74, and 1787. In the infamous Treaty of Küçük Kaynarca of 1774, the Ottomans were forced to acknowledge the independence of the Crimea (under Russian influence) and of the northern coasts of the Black Sea. It was not until the Treaty of Jassy in 1792 that peaceful relations between the Ottomans and the Russians were restored.

Part 2: Shifts in the Balance of Power, 1800-1853

- Available since 2008
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19280 5
- Number of titles: 120
- Languages used: Western languages, German, French, English
- Title list available
- MARC records available
- Purchase option: Outright purchase

This collection includes discussions of diplomatic treaties like those of Bucharest of 1812 and Adrianople (Edirne) of 1829; the commercial and military issue of access to the Black Sea; eye-witness accounts from war theaters; and plans for, and ideas about, future confrontations. The fact that many different perspectives are represented in this collection makes it extra attractive.

Part 3: The Crimean War 1854-1856

- Available since 2007
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19281 2
- Number of titles: 372
- Languages used: Western languages, German, French, English
- Title list available
- MARC records available
- Purchase option: Outright purchase

In this collection Russian views are represented by such publications as no. 685 by Anatole Demidov (1812-1870), traveler and patron of the arts; the discussion on the peace by former diplomat Tchihatchef; and the accounts of the Russian veteran, Piotr Andreevich Viazemsky (1792-1878). The opinions of two Turkish officers, Rustem Effendi and Seid Bey, and the views on the Crimean War of the Algerian poet, Muhammad b. Ismail (1820-1870) are also included. On the British side the influential works of the virulently anti-Russian diplomat, David Urquhart (1805-1877), are well-represented, as well as more moderate publications.

Part 4: The End of the Empires, 1857-1914

- Available since 2008
- E-ISBN 978 90 04 19282 9
- Number of titles: 263
- Languages used: Western languages, German, French, English
- Title list available
- MARC records available
- Purchase option: Outright purchase

The Brill Journal Archives Online

THE BRILL
JOURNAL ARCHIVES
ONLINE

The Brill Journal Archives Online now offer access to over 110,000 articles published before the year 2010, covering 3,700 volumes of 221 scholarly journals. The Journal Archives consist of two parts, the first covering the 19th and 20th century and the second the first decade of the 21st century. The Archives hold the imprints Brill, Martinus Nijhoff Publishers and VSP.

Journal Archives Part I and Part II

The Journal Archives consist of two parts, the first part covering the 19th and 20th century and the second part the first decade of the 21st century. Each part in turn is divided in subject-specific collections: Humanities & Social Sciences, International Law & Human Rights, and Biology & Science. Each collection may be purchased individually.

The academic community will find the Brill Journal Archives Online an invaluable resource for finding valuable content and acquiring an historical perspective on the humanities, social sciences, international law & human rights, biology and some selected areas in the natural sciences. Additionally, a purchase of the archives enables libraries to save shelf space and to provide their users with the online archives of journals currently not subscribed to.

Brill Journal Archives Online Part I: Archives from the 19th and 20th Century

Part I of the Journal Archives comprises content of all 2,357 volumes of 107 journals published before 2000, and includes 65,000 articles. The archival content generally starts with volume 1 issue 1 and goes up to the last issue published in 1999. It includes journals which were previously published under different names and/or by another publisher. The Archive is still growing as more journals are added to the Brill publication list.

Part II adds another 45,000 articles to the Journal Archives. This part covers all 1,324 volumes of 181 journals that were published in the 10-year period 2000-2009. Recently some extra 16% of content was added to this Archive, with the biggest addition in the subject of International Law & Human Rights.

Brill has a long-term archival and preservation agreement with the Royal Dutch Library (KB), and with Portico (USA) to guarantee access to the Brill Online Resources.

COUNTER

Brill provides COUNTER compliant usage statistics for the online products via an Admin site. For more details and information about COUNTER see projectcounter.org or contact our Sales Department at sales@brillonline.com

Brill is a CROSSREF member and ATHENS, SHIBBOLETH, and COUNTER compliant.

Finding Aids

MARC21

An important service provided is free MARC21 records, for customers who purchase collections, e-book collections or primary source collections. As titles are encoded according to the Machine Readable Catalog format, they can be loaded directly into library OPACs. This ensures that academic staff, students and researchers can more easily identify and access individual documents contained within the primary source collections. All MARC records can be found on the Brill website, brill.nl/marc

EAD Finding Aids

A large section of Brill's primary source collections consists of archival material. In order to provide access to these kinds of collections, finding aids are supplied according to the data structure provided by EAD (Encoded Archival Description).
